Bamboo is one of the widely-used materials to make eco and sustainable by-products. Its wood can be made into household products, kitchen utensils, decorations and even technology items.

The trimmings and cuttings of the bamboo will not go to waste because it can be made into something else. Starchy pulp is produced from bamboo trimmings, stems and leaves, through a process of alkaline hydrolysis and multi-phase bleaching. Further chemical processes produce bamboo fibre which creates garments, textiles, medical products, kitchen wares and others.

Coffee Grounds

About 40-30% of the world's population consume coffee every day. Approximately, around 15 million coffee shops and cafes are operating around the world. Ever wonder what they do in their coffee waste? Coffee grounds and byproducts are the waste from brewing coffee, which are mostly seen in coffee shops. These small grains or beans are the leftovers from producing a very good cup of coffee. A lot of people throws it away, while in fact, it can be used in many useful and creative ways.

Earth Friendly Wheat Straw Material is Fully Biodegradable

What is Wheat Straw Material?

Wheat Straw is the stalk left over after wheat grains are harvested. Traditionally, it has been treated as a waste. In some countries, farmers burn it, contributing to air pollution and creating a public health hazard. However, these stalks still have value. We reclaim this material and use it to make our wheat straw products.

WHY CORK MATERIAL IS SUSTAINABLE AND GOOD MATERIAL?

- The bark is carefully stripped, no need to cut down the trees itself. After sometime, the bark grows back to be harvested again

- The stripped bark can get as much as 5x carbon from atmosphere. For Every kilo produced cork, 55kgs of CO₂ is absorbed by the tree

- Cork is Hydrophobic, means it is has dirt retention, anti-microbial, and is odour repellent.

- Cork raw material is naturally moisture-wicking, cushioning, insulating, fire-resistant, biodegradable, buoyant and beautiful.

WHAT IS RECYCLED LEATHER?

Genuine Leather scraps are collected from furniture, shoes, and other products and factories.

This leather used to go to waste and adds up to the landfills.

But now its ground into shreds, combined with water and then mixed with binding products such as natural rubber and acacia wood bark to make a goof use of it.

Most recycled leather is a composite of shredded leather scraps and residues collected from tanneries and other leather product manufacturers.

Is recycled leather sustainable?

Recycling of materials creates a circular economy and therefore increases sustainability.

Also it take less resources to recycle geniune leather than synthetic materials.
